

Ceramic Coating Will Increase Missile Range

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A civilian scientist said today his company had developed successfully a coating for missiles to withstand temperatures up to 6,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

George Newman of the Electro-Lizing Corp. of Los Angeles was supported in its claim of a "major breakthrough" in the missile field by the U. S. Naval Ordnance test station at remote China Lake, Calif.

Newman told the United Press the new development — a multiple ceramic coating — "promises to increase the range and reliability of missiles."

He suggested that such a coating could solve the problem of re-entry from space into the earth's dense atmosphere and that the first man returning from space might not burn up after all.

At China Lake, the Navy confirmed preliminary tests during the past nine months had demonstrated the "materials sublimation approach to be a tremendous forward stride in missile technology."

Newman explained the ceramic coatings were flame sprayed on the walls of plastic, steel or aluminum missile structures.

"The ceramic is then coated and sealed with a new alloy which has exceptional properties," he said. "The alloy cannot be further identified because of its classified nature."

He said that when a missile is fired its intense heat triggers physical and chemical changes in the coatings.

"The result is an almost diamond-hard surface which resists temperatures up to 6,000 degrees Fahrenheit and prevents erosion caused by the high temperature, high velocity gases," he said.

Publisher Raps the Press, Politicians

LITTLE ROCK — John F. Wells of Little Rock, publisher of the political weekly, The Arkansas Recorder, told the Little Rock Rotary Club Thursday that both newspapering and politicking had deteriorated in ethical standards in recent years.

Before then, Wells said, they had something in common with preaching and teaching and none of them was "particularly concerned with making any more money than it took to live."

The percentage of rascals among politicians has always been higher than among newspaperfolk, Wells said, but the gulf has been constantly narrowing.

Now there are newspaper writers who are primarily politicians and there are politicians who fancy themselves capable of doing the thinking for the newspaper people assigned to them," he said.

He blamed part of this alleged deterioration on the American Newspaper Guild which, he said, has "set the standards which most newspapers, including many without Guild chapters or contracts, adhere to."

The dissemination of national news, he said, is "prefabricated" and national news gathering is beyond the publisher's control.

"Honies Get Along Fine" "Because of that journalistic weakness the phonies get along just fine on newspapers and in politics," he said.

Wells, a Gazette city editor in the 1930s, said he was "driven by a sense of frustration" to establish the Recorder, which is bitter critical of the Gazette, 10 years ago. For government news, he said, the Recorder depends solely on records in the Capitol, mostly in the offices of the auditor and treasurer — offices he said were visited by reporters largely to pass the time of day.

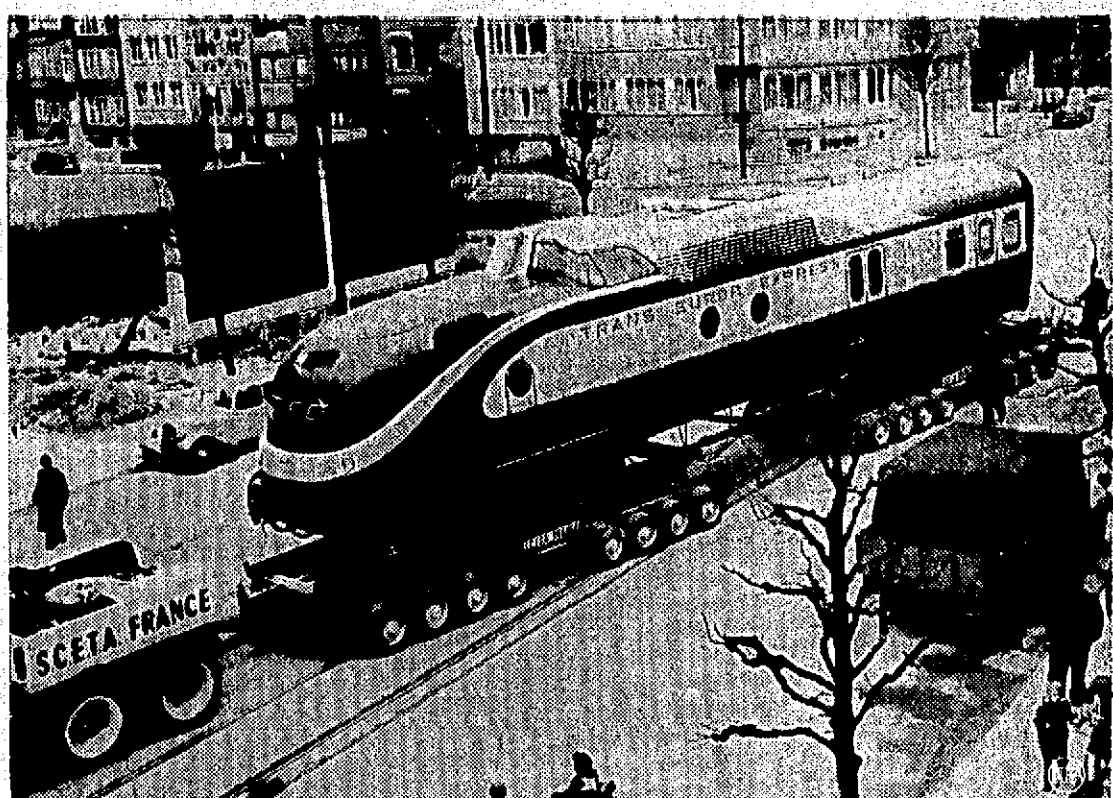

"Government's principal activity is to tax and spend," Wells said. "Many politicians would like for you to forget that, and the daily newspapers help with the forgetting."

Cities Exposed He cited instances in which he said the Recorder had unearthed records of irregular purchases in the state auditor's office.

Newsmen are discouraged from displaying too much initiative and that, Wells said, is one of the reasons why there is so much bad government.

"All a bad governor has to do to get a good press is stay on first-name terms with the reporters and brag on himself. It's what a governor says, not what he does, that gets into the newspapers," he said.

Weather Mostly cloudy with scattered showers and thunderstorms Saturday becoming partly cloudy Sunday. Highest 70-80 Saturday.

STRANGE CARGO—Although the citizens of Brussels are getting used to strange sights in connection with the forthcoming World's Fair, a 46-ton train rolling through the streets is still something to see. The new diesel train, called the Trans-Europ Express, will be part of the German exhibit at the fair.

Good and Bad International News of Week

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The United States, Britain and France agreed this week to start negotiations with Russia for a summit meeting on world tensions.

In joint notes, the Western allies accepted a Soviet proposal that the negotiations be started in Moscow at once by the ambassadors of the four countries.

It was the first positive step toward a meeting of heads of government, including President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, which now for any policy—good or bad—it appears to be almost inevitable.

But the Allied and Soviet governments were still far apart on even the preliminary negotiations.

Russia had proposed that the ambassadors discuss merely the physical arrangement — time, place and composition — for a meeting first of the foreign ministers of the four countries, then for the summit conference.

The Allies insisted that the ambassadors must discuss the problem which would be taken up at the summit meeting, in order to insure that it would not turn into a mere stage for propaganda speeches.

France was plunged into another cabinet crisis, demonstrating once again that it is almost impossible to find a majority in the French National Assembly for any policy—good or bad—in North Africa.

Premier Felix Gaillard resigned after five months and nine days in office. The Assembly voted 321 to 285 against his proposals for opening negotiations with Tunisia on the status of French forces in the country, airfields and Bizerte naval base.

Gaillard had left the way open for taking the question of control of the Tunisian Algerian border to the United Nations. Right-wing elements in the Assembly, led by Gaullist Jacques Soustelle, stood firm in their refusal to allow further internationalization of the Tunisia dispute, which is inextricably linked with the war in Algeria.

The 100-seat Communist bloc, which echoes the Algerian rebels' demands for independence, also voted against Gaillard.

Indonesian government forces landed in rebel-held Sumatra in a land and sea operation.

Infantry and paratroopers, covered by warships and planes, made their landing on the west coast and attacked the rebel stronghold of Padang, hoping to crush the army elements who had rebelled against the central government.

In Cuba, the rebel forces of Fidel Castro failed dismally in their bid to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista by organized uprisings and a nationwide general strike.

The rebel movement suffered from lack of central control. Batista remained completely in control of the armed forces. Castro was reported running short of weapons in his eastern Cuban mountain stronghold.

Just a Matter of Convenience

White House Brands Soviet Charge Untrue

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House today branded as "not true" a Russian charge that U. S. H-bomber flights are provocative and endanger world peace.

The charge was made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. In reply, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters simply:

"Mr. Gromyko's statements are not true and there will be a statement shortly on this from the State Department."

Hagerty did not elaborate. He said President Eisenhower discussed the Gromyko charge with Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Hester, an Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles at this morning's Cabinet session.

Hagerty said the President also talked for about 20 minutes privately this morning with Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Hagerty said he did not know whether their discussion dealt with the Gromyko statement or other matters.

Assistant Defense Secretary Murray Snyder said the facts do not justify Gromyko's charge about the Strategic Air Command's alert system.

Snyder said the system was "accurately and correctly" described by President Frank H. Bartholomew of the United Press in a dispatch April 7. The dispatch was cleared with the Defense Department, Snyder said.

Snyder said, "Any news story on which such a protest is based was not based on our briefing as given to Mr. Bartholomew and as reported by him."

It was learned that the Air Force is preparing a formal reply in which it is expected to say that SAC's "fail safe" system guarantees against accidental triggering of a nuclear war.

Moscow Plans New Space Spectacular

WASHINGTON (UP)—Some U. S. officials are betting Moscow is wending up preparations for a spectacular new scientific experiment in outer space, possibly a rocket shot at the moon.

These officials believe the Soviets will launch their next outer space test before May 1, the traditional international workers day.

There are some indications that the outer space program, after getting off to a flying start, has been slowed by a few days ago. An article on earth satellites referred to "difficulties" but gave no details.

Auto Injuries Fatal to Man

ST. LOUIS (UP)—A 63-year-old farmer Monette died in a hospital here Thursday of injuries suffered in an accident while at work Wednesday night.

James Fleetwood fell from a 20-foot scaffold in the boatbuilding plant where he worked.

Search for Treasure Continues

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Eugene Gaytan, 77, and his sons today attacked the rock slab believed to be plugging the entrance to a large Spanish treasure under their frame house.

Using a borrowed pneumatic hammer, they deepened the cavern under a bedroom in Gaytan's five-room house to nearly 26 feet Thursday and uncovered rock markings said to be a "cross" and a "face of Christ."

Miguel Rodriguez, a 68-year-old amateur treasure hunter from Del Rio, Tex., said the two rocks they drilled through Thursday were "false doors" two-and-a-half or three feet thick.

He said the rock they hoped to shatter today was the real door which would lead to a staircase and tunnel where they would find gold buried by an aide of the explorer Hernando de Soto. In 1541 Rodriguez who says he studied archeology at the University of Chihuahua in Mexico, has directed the diggers by symbols which he claimed to have deciphered from rocks.

A Dallas amateur treasure hunter, W. J. Padgett, moved an electronic metal-detecting gadget, called a detector, around the back yard Thursday night. It registered a strong reaction near the northeast corner of the house, said Padgett.

Some Favor, Some Against, Court Ruling

By STEDMAN GABER
United Press Staff Correspondent

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—Some legal experts today defended the U. S. Supreme Court against attacks stemming from decisions in the school segregation and other major controversial personal liberty cases.

A symposium at the University of Notre Dame law school warned that a "clamorous and incessant attack" on the high tribunal may be going to far.

Constitutional law experts said that the status of the court as an American institution was endangered by proposals such as the Jenner bill which would restrict its powers.

Speakers said that politics and sociology—two grounds on which recent key decisions have been attacked—have a place in the deliberation of the nine justices.

"It's one group's sociology against another's," said Prof. Robert A. Lofland of the University of Arkansas.

"The stuff of politics in the larger sense," Chicago attorney Carl McGowan said, "emerges from the big court cases and the court cannot hope to be completely isolated from the dust and heat of political contention."

All participants of the symposium on the role of the Supreme Court in the American constitutional system" said they opposed the bill introduced by Sen. William F. Jenner (R-Ind.).

Jenner seeks to stop appeals to the high court in five legal areas involving the powers of Congress and its committees and security and subversive control programs. The bill is before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Dean Joseph O'Meara of the Notre Dame law school said the symposium was organized to provide a "more vocal defense of the role of the court without taking sides in any particular decisions."

Labor Report Shows Record Unemployment

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Labor Department report showing record idleness among workers covered by the unemployment insurance system gave new impetus today to congressional efforts to expand jobless worker benefits.

The department reported Friday night that 37,800 additional unemployed workers were added to the nation's jobless benefit rolls for the week ended April 5. The figure possibly topped any period since 1938.

That brought the overall total to a record 3,314,000.

On the brighter side, the department said the number of fresh claims filed by newly laid-off workers dropped last week to 401,000—a decrease of 40,000.

Maine Rate Highest

Maine had the highest rate of insured unemployment with 14.8 per cent. Other percentages were: Michigan, 14.6 per cent; Kentucky, 13.2 per cent and West Virginia, 13 per cent.

Thirty states reported declines in new jobless claims. The largest reductions occurred in Michigan with 21,000; Pennsylvania, 11,300; New York 6,800; Illinois, 4,400; and California, 3,100.

Twenty-nine states reported an increase in the overall number of workers carried on their benefit lists the week ended April 5. The biggest increases were in New York, 15,300; Michigan, 14,200, and California, 5,000.

Meanwhile, Democrats forecast speedy House approval of their plan to provide 16 weeks of federally financed relief payments to persons thrown out of work by recession.

Overriding Protests The Democratic-controlled House Ways and Means Committee overrode Republican protests Friday and voted to expand unemployment compensation benefits beyond the levels recommended by President Eisenhower.

The program would provide an extra 16 weeks of federally financed benefits for persons who exhaust their state payments. It also would grant benefits to about 900,000 jobless workers not now covered by unemployment compensation.

But Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.), top Republican on the committee, said the Democrats were guilty of "panicky political irresponsibility," he said they were "heedless of the cost to the taxpayers" which was estimated at anywhere from one to two billion dollars. That compared with the estimated $600,000,000 cost of the administration's plan.

A&M Board Gives Approval to President

MONTICELLO (UP)—The Arkansas A&M college board of trustees today reaffirmed its confidence in President Horace E. Thompson and the school faculty.

The board issued a statement following a meeting Thursday, obviously in answer to a story earlier this week, that a move was afoot to oust Thompson and Head Coach Willis "Convoy" Leslie.

"The records reveal that we have confidence in our school administration and fine faculty," the statement said. "They are doing a job sufficient for A&M College to continue to grow and be one of the finest education systems in the state."

The statement said that at its 1957 general meeting the board unanimously elected Thompson as president of the school for the year beginning July 1, 1957 through June 30, 1958, at an annual salary of $10,000.

At the Feb. 20, 1958 meeting, the statement said Thompson was elected president at the same salary and on a continuing basis.

"President Thompson, hereafter, will automatically be rehired unless notified on or before March 1st of each succeeding year," the statement added. "Mr. Godsey (Paul Godsey of England) made the motion that President Thompson be recommended for the outstanding work he has done for the college and that the board express to Dr. Thompson their appreciation of this work by extending him a vote of confidence."

The election of Dr. Thompson was unanimous.

"The records reveal that we have confidence in our school administration and fine faculty," the statement said.

Going to Jail Is Not Too Bad—Providing You're Just Visiting

By MARY ANITA LASETER

I went to jail last Wednesday.

The elevator stopped on the fifth floor of the Hempstead County Courthouse, the steel doors were opened, and suddenly I was inside a place about which most citizens know very little.

As I was merely gathering facts, this trip was entirely voluntary. I'm happy to say. And, thanks to the sheriff's wife, I found out much I had never known.

In stories, movies, and articles we hear and see much these days about prisons, but it is usually in regard to state or federal penitentiaries. You may rest assured that the jail at the county courthouse also has more than adequate facilities for its prisoners.

This place of confinement, which serves as both the county and city jail fills the entire top floor of the building, with the exception of the five room apartment where the sheriff and his wife live.

The prisoners are served two meals each day — breakfast and a mid-afternoon meal — and the total cost of the food must not exceed the daily expense allotment of $1.50 for each prisoner. By buying in bulk and shopping for bargains, this requirement is met.

Although the sheriff's apartment is technically an unfurnished one, the county does provide it with a large refrigerator and a huge institution-type kitchen range because this is where the prisoners' food is prepared.

When food is served the prisoners, it is never necessary to open the cell doors. For the individual trays are the width of small hinged openings in each door. The cells themselves have two bunk beds and a small bathroom in each one.

Showers are thereby available, but no towels are furnished. Of course, razors are not allowed, so the men do not shave except in certain cases.

Separate groups of cells are used for white and Negro, men and women. All such quarters are cleaned once a week by janitors at the courthouse. To give an idea of how many people are "temporary occupants" of these quarters, the names of 43 county prisoners and 21 city prisoners are on the records for sometime in January, 1958.

City and county prisoners usually serve short sentences, ranging from over-night to maybe 72 days, while more serious crimes result in their removal to the state penitentiary.

Day lights burn 24 hours a day in the jail corridors. The prisoners are checked at meal-times and each night. Since the walls are not sound-proof, any unusual noise in the prison is heard in the sheriff's apartment and calls for another check-up.

Reading and writing materials are provided upon request. As might be expected, the Bible is asked for more than anything else. At times, old magazines are distributed, too. But most generally, time hangs heavy. That is the greatest punishment of a jail on a civilized conditions.

The sun was actually shining outside and when I walked out of the jail, I found myself being thankful for my freedom and for the law enforcement officials who protect that freedom. They deserve the grateful appreciation of all law-abiding citizens.

Broyles Pleased With the Porks

FAYETTEVILLE (UP)—Coach Frank Broyles of the University of Arkansas said he was "real pleased" at the Razorbacks' third day of spring and drills Thursday.

Broyles, who is switching the Hogs from a split-T to multiple offense, said the 85 candidates for the 1958 team were "hitting a little better."

For the first time in the four-week practice, motion pictures were taken of the action.

SAC Is Geared to Strike All Over the World

President, United Press

Copyright, 1958, by United Press

OFFUTT AIR FORCE BASE, Neb. (UP)—Imagine that you are the commander of a B52 jet-bomber of the U. S. Strategic Air Command. You are in flight toward an enemy target. You are carrying thermonuclear bombs, capable of more destruction force than the combined American and British Air Forces delivered in an of World War II.

This is not practice. Eight minutes ago, you were dispatched from base. You are bound northward across the Pole, flying faster than the speed of sound.

Fourteen minutes ago your base, and every other SAC base in the world, received a flash from the "DEW line" (Distant Early Warning) network across northern Canada that the radar scopes indicated a convergence of foreign objects flying swiftly toward the United States.

The foreign objects are too fast to be averted. Is this a flight of intercontinental missiles with atomic warheads, bound for the cities of the United States and Canada?

No Turn-Back Signal Flight time for missiles from Eastern Europe to North America is 30 minutes. The DEW line gave your base 15 minutes warning. Your aircraft was the last of the sortie off the runway; you were airborne in six minutes; you have been flying for eight minutes; enemy missiles which must have passed you in flight would be due to strike North America in one minute. Other United States bombers are in the air all over the world with reprisal bombs.

But this is one thing that you alone do not know. Since your takeoff, the foreign objects picked up on the radar scopes turned out to be a shower of meteorites.

Other aircraft in your sortie have been turned back by radio. But in spite of the trigger quick efficiency of the command which dispatched you, and of the giant aircraft under your hand, there has been a failure.

Someone has said that a battle is a series of errors and victory goes to the side that makes the fewest number.

The error in which you find yourself is that you did not receive a turn-back signal.

You have been dispatched with a complete invasion plan. Routes across the enemy border to your target. Alternate routes to an alternate target. Routes across the face of the enemy; country and out again. You have more than one atomic bomb. You have fuel for 6,000 miles.

"Fail Safe" Plan Do you proceed to your target, does your bombardier press the button and does the first atomic bomb go "down the chimney" to start World War III? All this because one of SAC's vast fleet of bombers failed to receive a turn-back order?

Not so. You are saved, you and many others, by a powerfully simple plan called "fail safe." It is proof against error, human or mechanical.

"Fail safe" a term borrowed from the engineers, simply instructs you to proceed toward your target for a fixed number of nautical miles and then turn back—"fail safe"—if, for any reason you do not at that point and at that moment receive coded orders to continue to your target.

This actually has happened. Not once, not twice, but many times. The great counter-offensive striking force of the Strategic Air

Flights Are Essential To Insure Peace

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today mapped strategy to convince the world that American H-bomber flights are essential to guard against the threat of sneak Soviet nuclear attacks.

Officials said U. S. representatives at a U. N. Security Council meeting set for Monday will explain that Russia forced the United States to remain on a constant nuclear alert because of stubborn Soviet refusal to negotiate a check-proof disarmament agreement.

Thus, the government officials said, American planes must be ready to take off instantly with death-dealing H-bomb loads whenever suspicious "blips" show up on radar screens.

Re's Denounce Flights The Soviet Union on Friday denounced the H-bomb flights as "provocative" and "endangering world peace. Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko called on the Security Council for a speedy meeting to hear the complaint and halt the flights by planes of the U. S. Strategic Air Command.

Gromyko's statement followed a report by Frank H. Bartholomew, president of United Press, which appeared in newspapers on April 7 and April 8.

Bartholomew's dispatch explained the SAC "fail safe" system under which alerted planes head north toward the pole with H-bomb loads when suspicious images show up on radar warning screens.

Under the "fail safe" plan, the dispatch explained, the H-bombers automatically return to their bases unless, on reaching a predetermined point, they are given additional orders to continue to the target. The dispatch explained these orders can be given only on authority of the President.

Cleared By Air Force "Fail safe," an expression borrowed from the engineers, simply instructs the pilot to "proceed toward your target for a fixed number of nautical miles and then turn back—"fail safe"—if for any reason you do not at that point and at that moment receive coded orders to continue to your target," Bartholomew reported.

Bartholomew's dispatch, which was based on personal visits to SAC headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base, Neb., and was cleared by the Air Force, disclosed bombers had taken off "many times" after objects had been picked up on the radar scope only to return home without going to their targets.

Faubus Says He Will Not Miss Mann

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Gov. Faubus said Thursday night he did not think he would miss Former Mayor Woodrow W. Mann of Little Rock, if Mann moves to Denver.

"Although I have been unhappy to see the migration from Arkansas to other states," said Faubus, "this is one move neither I nor the people of Arkansas will regret."

Mann, a severe critic of the governor during last fall's Central High School integration crisis, said Thursday he was "considering" moving to Denver to take a job with a newly-formed investment firm. Mann has been in the insurance business in Little Rock for 10 years.

Faubus, on a good-will tour of New Orleans with other Little Rock Chamber of Commerce members, said the eight Negroes who attend Central High school were "as alone now as they were on the first day."

The governor said that "despite 12,000 troops, a leading newspaper, a mayor, a police superintendent, a top school official and certain influences," integration at Central had failed.

Winthrop Rockefeller was named by Faubus as one of the "certain influences." But Faubus said there had been no split personally between Rockefeller and himself.

Defense Plan Battle Has Opened Fast

WASHINGTON (UP)— The battle for President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan has opened on Capitol Hill with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the role of a key strategist.

Nixon, it is thought, is tetanically working for the plan among members of both House and Senate.

The reorganization as now proposed would streamline the Pentagon chain of command give the defense secretary, acting through the Joint Chiefs of Staff, full control of defense strategy. Secretaries of the individual services would run the administrative, training and service functions of the Army, Navy and Air Force. The Administration's defense re-vamping received a new "thrust" Thursday when:

—President Eisenhower said in a speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the International Press Institute it was more important to hit the target than to haggle over "who pulls the trigger."

—The powerful Army Association threw its support behind the President's proposed Pentagon overhaul.

—Twenty-four Republican senators issued a statement praising the President for his "fighting action."

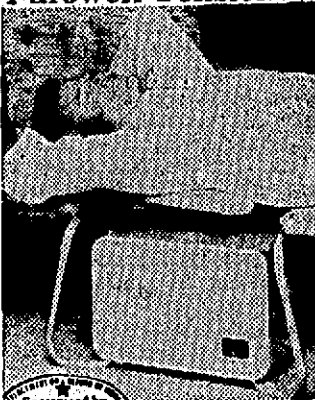

—Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.), administration spokesman in the House, charged some of the opposition to the President's plan comes from people who are simply allergic to change of any kind.

Sunday at the Saenger

Gina Lollobrigida, the gypsy dancer in Allied Artists' "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," is shown here as she is being tortured for a crime she did not commit. The film in CinemaScope and Technicolor and with Anthony Quinn as the co-star is at the Saenger theater, Sunday and Monday.

'Hunchback of Notre Dame' Rich Film Entertainment

Starring Gina Lollobrigida and Academy Award winner Anthony Quinn, Allied Artists' "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" opens Sunday at the Saenger theater. Although this production is the fourth feature-length film based on Victor Hugo's immortal classic of romance and action-drama, it is the first to be made in color for the wide screen, thus capturing the full beauty and scope of the unmarathon story. As the grotesquely deformed Quasimodo, the cathedral bellringer who falls hopelessly in love with the gorgeous Gypsy dancer, Esmeralda, Quinn once more proves himself to be one of Hollywood's outstanding performers. His performance, in depth and reflecting a complete understanding of all the facets of the character he portrays, is equaled only by the masterful projection onto the screen of Esmeralda, the Gypsy, who falls hopelessly in love with the deformed Quasimodo. The film is a beautiful Miss Lollobrigida.

Starts Tuesday Saenger

A meeting in a New Zealand recreation center during World War II marks the beginning of the romance between Jean Simmons and Paul Newman in "Until They Sail," new M-G-M drama based on a story by James Michener. Joan Fontaine and Piper Laurie also have starring roles.

Incumbents Seek Another Term

LITTLE ROCK (UP)— Two candidates for circuit judge and the state senate announced for re-election today by filing their corrupt practices pledges with Secretary of State C. G. Hall. Henry W. Smith of Pine Bluff announced for his third term as judge of the 11th judicial circuit, composed of Jefferson, Lincoln and DeSha counties. Smith had served as prosecuting attorney for several years before his election as circuit judge in 1950. Clifford (Duncan) Wade of Fayetteville announced for his second term in the senate, representing the 2nd district, made up of Washington and Madison counties. Wade served four terms in the Arkansas house of representatives before election to his first term in the upper chamber.

More than 5,000 students at Pennsylvania State University study fifteen different subjects on closed-circuit television.

Thought for the day

Once there lived an old woman who was always so cheerful that everyone wondered at her. "But you must have some clouds in your life," said a visitor. "Clouds?"
she replied. "Why of course; if there were no clouds, where would the blessed showers come from?"
—Sunshine Magazine.

YOU NEED THE SPIRITUAL UPLIFT OF A PRAYER-HOUR IN GOD'S HOUSE

CO-OPERATION

...the joint action having survival values. How awful to be a foe, —against everything good. If you would build a greater church; a finer society; a better world...cooperation is necessary.
If progress is expected, teamwork is a must. Thank God for power which increases with effort. Don't break up the meeting when the majority votes against you...join hands for the common good. Pool your efforts for the glory of God. Rivalry must give way to progress, to constructive cooperation.
Let us work together for good, for God,— for the night cometh when on man can work.
